Catalyst Acoustics Group Acquires Madrid Inc., Expanding Portfolio

AGAWAM, Mass. – May 6, 2024 – Catalyst Acoustics Group (CAG), the parent company of an elite group of acoustic, seismic, vibration and noise control companies, currently including Frasch, IAC Acoustics, Kinetics Noise Control, Lamvin, Noise Barriers, RealAcoustix and Sound Seal, proudly announces the acquisition of Madrid Inc., a California-based leader in wood products for architectural ceilings and wood elements.

Madrid Inc. is distinguished in the industry for its premium acoustical wood solutions, providing customizable veneer and stain options showcased in locations worldwide.

Regarding the acquisition, Catalyst Acoustics Group's CEO, Joe Lupone, sees this as a strategic advancement for both entities. "Madrid's unique and innovative wood acoustics collection aligns seamlessly with our expanding portfolio," Lupone said. "It is an exciting time to welcome the dedicated Madrid team to our family and provide the support and guidance required for the business to grow as a leader in the market."

Maintaining autonomy within the CAG portfolio, Madrid will retain independent channels for products and services, while gaining access to CAG's deep functional expertise, financial backing, and robust support teams.

"Being acquired by Catalyst Acoustics Group is the right move for our organization to set us on course for expansive growth in the years ahead," said Robert Ellis, President, Madrid Inc. "By aligning with this world-class group of acoustic and noise control companies, we are better positioned to reach new levels of success overall."

Under Ellis's continued leadership, Madrid's team remains intact, ensuring continuity and expertise during the transition.
